Wolcott High School

Wolcott, Indiana

Table of Contents

School Days - Page 5

When we are young, how like a puzzle school work and school life seem to be! New ideas, new faces, different surroundings-- how are we to cope with them?

Faculty - Page 17

As we continue through school, each step up the ladder brings us new knowledge, a bit more confidence, a growing awareness of the activities in our school and an eagerness and willingness to take part.

Activities - Page 27

We are the same in our common humanity, yet different in our interests, talents, energy and purposes.

Favorites - Page 41

"Putting The Pieces Together"

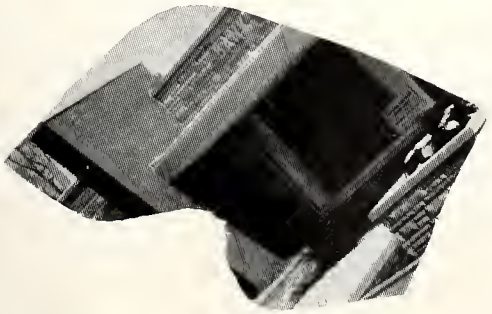
Sports - 51

Gradually the pieces of our lives that at first seem to have been so apart, begin to come together. Each new achievement in our classes, clubs, sports, and other honors bring us closer to our goal.

Underclass - Page 63

Finally, graduation! The pieces of our school career have finally come together! But now we must start putting the pieces of our future lives in place. Something is finished, something else is begun.

Seniors - Page 83



All this would not have been possible without the communities in which we live. All of us are a part of our world, and must carry our share of this corner of our universe.

Advertising - Page 97

Our new addition, containing three elementary classrooms and a large science laboratory and classroom, was dedicated on Friday, September 28, 1962.

Our Pride And Joy--The New Addition

A marked contrast in the styles of architecture may be seen in comparing the new addition with the old building, built in 1898, in the background.

Wolcott School is classed as a First Class Commissioned School, grades 1-12, by the State of Indiana. All high school teachers have degrees and are properly licensed. All but two or three elementary teachers also have degrees. Those without were licensed under older Indiana school laws and are working toward them at the present time.

School Days

Upon arrival at school in the morning, the students put their coats in their lockers and shuffle with their books to the morning classes.

When the first bell rings the stairway and hallways become one mass of people scurrying to their first class before the final bell rings.

Morning Chaos Brought About By Students

Junior girls enjoy a meal in the cafeteria.

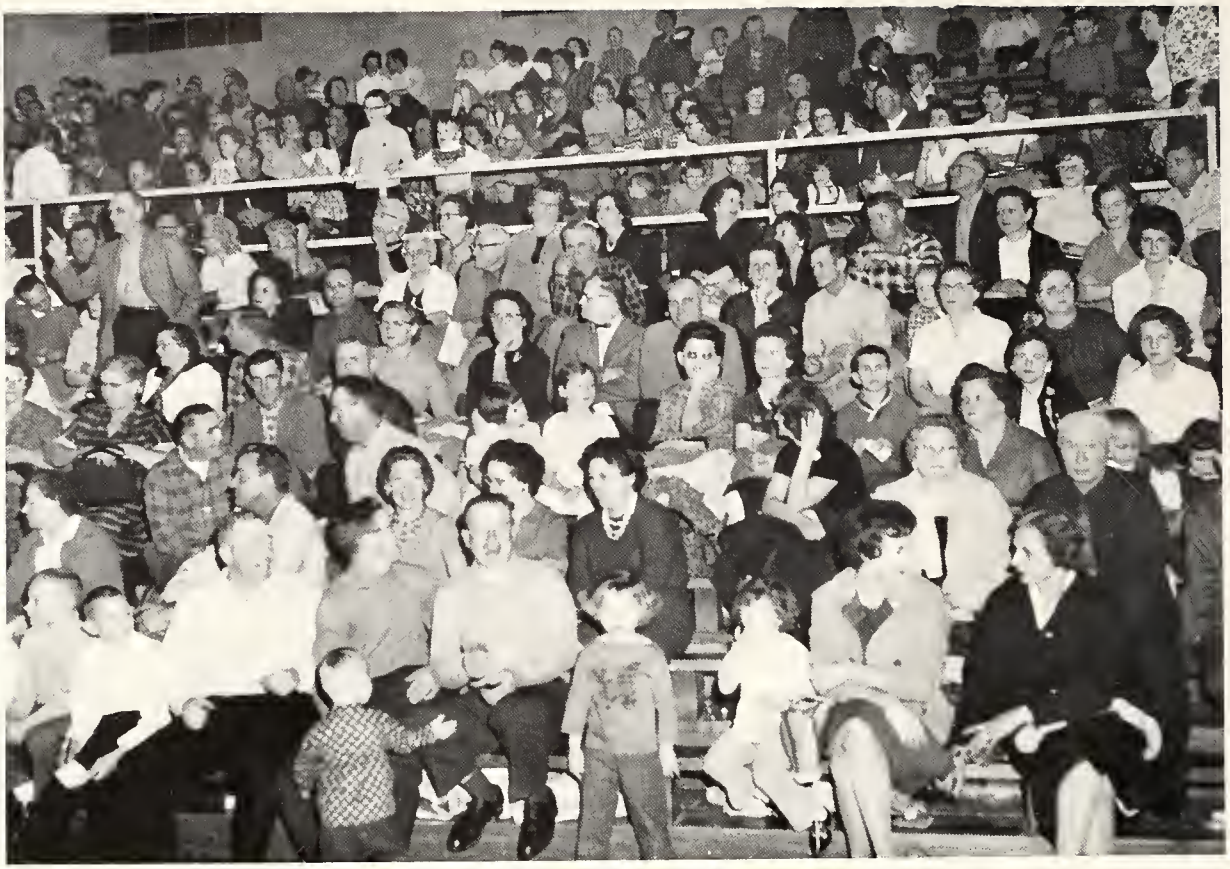
The students have time to relax and enjoy themselves during noon hour. After finishing a meal in the cafeteria, they patronize the candy counter or refresh themselves with a coke. Boys and girls alike try the latest dances.

Susan DeMoss, Gary Provo, and Jim Wood take time to have a coke.

Relaxing Is Part Of Student Life

Seniors good customers at candy counter.

Students dance to the latest records.



Wolcott fans encourage team with their support.

Home Games Delight Students

A ball game is a major event for the students both socially and economically. The band, drill team, and twirlers display their talents for the crowd between the halves of home games. The juniors net profit for their treasury through the sale of cokes. The seniors have charge of candy sales, sock hops, and food sales in the cafeteria after games.

Ball game not complete without popcorn sales.

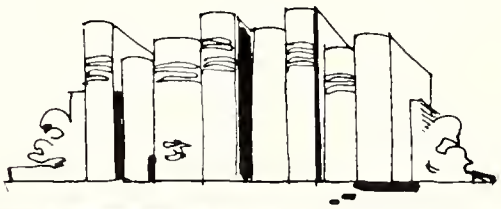
Senior parents furnish the food and their help for the cafeteria after games.

The students look forward to the sock hops after games. The latest records were tape recorded to provide a smooth continuous evening of dancing.

The library is a vast and complicated storehouse of information and enlightenment. The library contains a basic research guide, the card catalog. A variety of periodicals and newspapers, encyclopedias, dictionaries, and other reference works are there for the students' use.

The library is a vital aspect of democracy; it helps to keep all the people well-informed, and makes available to them the means of enjoyment.

Library Good Source Of Information For Students



A display of paper back books is available for the students to purchase. Louise Toops and Wilma Kubicsek look over the selection.

Members of the Librarians Club devote their free time to working in the library. Each month they have a colorful bulletin board display posted in study hall.

The girls' ensemble consisting of Diane Hall, Barbara Mathew, Karen Burke, Sharon Cook, Gay Griffith, Mary Jane Forbes, Darlene Meyer, Donna Schofield, Doris Mathew, Karen Schwab, Mary Glotzbach, and Janice DeBoy, after receiving a first at the district contest participated in the state contest at Butler University. They were awarded a first placing and a perfect score of seven on their score card.

Students Receive Honors

Each month a student is elected by the Student Council as Citizen-of-the-Month. The honor is based on the student's activities and leadership performed during that month. Mike Klopfenstein, president, awards Diane Hall her honor pin for the month of October.

The upper grades compete artistically for the best painted store window up town at Halloween. The freshman window won first prize this year. The painters, Steve Smart, Sue Rector, and Joyce Inman, complete the finishing touches.

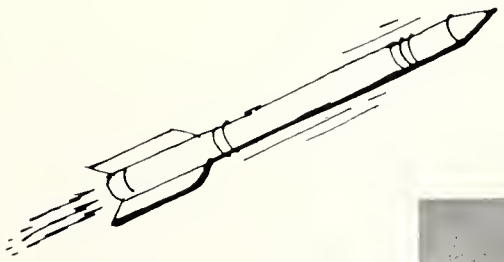
Future Scientists Experiment In New Lab

The students enrolled in science courses worked in the new laboratory this year. It contains much of the latest equipment. It was much needed because of crowded conditions. It contains thirty working units for students.

The rear wall of the room has display cabinets for the preserved specimens studied in biology, the measuring scales, models of parts of the body, and mineral specimens. An exhaust fan system built in a cabinet eliminates the odors of the chemicals used in experiments. A large aquarium is maintained for study and observation.

The preparation room and stock room provide ample space for the storage of the chemicals and supplies needed for the classroom.

The dark room, not shown, has the facilities for developing pictures and enlarging prints.



Mr. Christopher is seated behind the demonstrator's desk which is elevated for better view. Having used the old science room last year, he finds it an experience and improvement to teach classes with the latest facilities.

SCHOOL SECRETARY:
Barbara Poindexter

School secretary, Barbara Poindexter, assists the students with their needs when they come to the office. She is kept busy with the typing and distribution of the daily announcements, keeping of school records, cashier in the school cafeteria, and answering the telephone.

Preparing food for the students is a time consuming job for the cooks. They spend their morning preparing and cooking food for the day with the assistance of various students. After serving the students their dinners, further time is required to arrange the kitchen for the following day.

Employees Devoted To Needs Of Students

COOKS: Ethel Young, Fanny High, Hazel Wright, Emma Stoller.

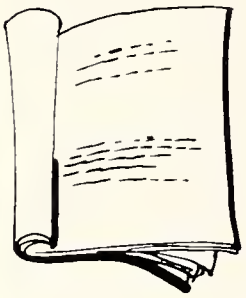
CUSTODIANS: Richard Poindexter, Jack Budreau, Dan Reel, and Margaret Reel.

Behind the scenes work done by the maintenance crew is often overlooked by students. Keeping the buildings and rooms in tip-top condition requires hard steady work. Our lay help make sure the classrooms, washrooms, and corridors are spic and span. Keeping up the ordinary repairs and improvements are year-round items that constantly occupy the time of the men.

Behind The Scene Workers

BUS DRIVERS: First Row: Frank Menefee, Hank Westerhouse, Junior Foster, Tom Fields. Second Row: Carol Nelson, Elmer Shoup, Ernest Doughty, Emma Blume, David Sell, and Elmo Dotson.

The dinner table is a gathering place of the teachers. Here they have an opportunity to discuss both school and home functions.



Faculty Seen At Their Leisure

MR. DALE T. SHEETS, PRINCIPAL

Mr. Sheets graduated from Purdue with a M. A. in English and Education.

MR. B.J. HOLMES, COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT

Mr. Holmes took his graduate work at Purdue, obtaining a M.S. in Education.

Administration Works Hard To Educate Us

Trustee and Advisory Board, L. to R.: Trustee, Mr. Heinrich; Mr. Forbes, Mr. Pender, Mr. Paul Schwab.

One of the most improved departments in the school is the Science Department. Four years of science are offered to the students who have the ability and the desire to learn all they can in this field.

Mr. Christopher and Mr. Petty inspect a model that represents the parts of the ear.

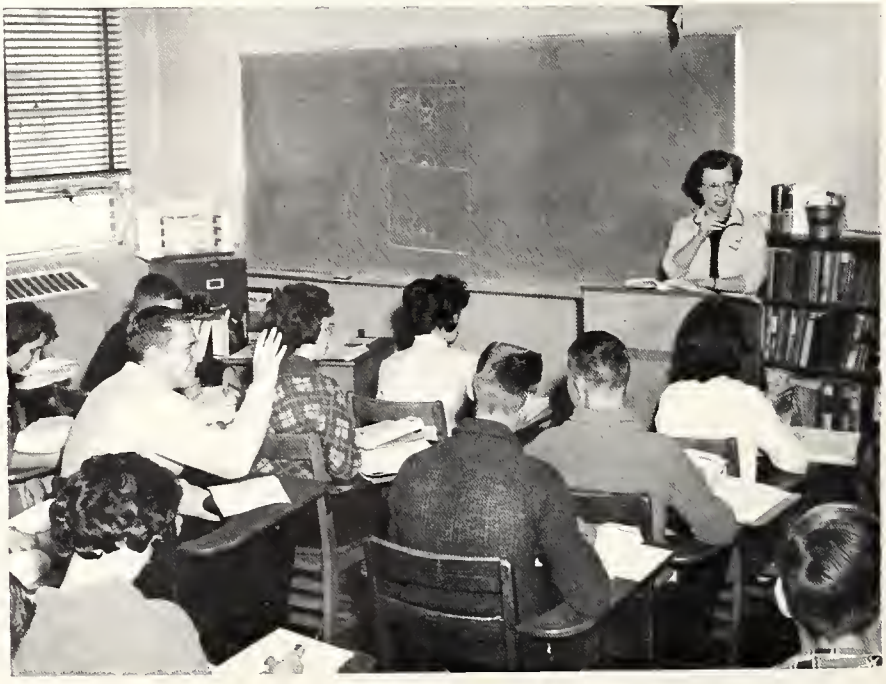
Science Ranges From Mammals To Missiles

Mr. Petty watches as the biology students dissect a worm. Besides teaching biology, health, and physical education, Mr. Petty coaches the varsity basketball team. He received his B. S. from Butler University. He plans to begin work on his M. A. this summer.

A group of physics students, with Mr. Christopher's assistance, discover the parts and functions of the eye. Mr. Christopher received his B. A. at Manchester College, and after attending Purdue, he received his teaching license. At the present, he is working towards his M. A.

Mrs. Wallace, Mrs. Correll, Mrs. Shoop, and Mrs. English are shown in the library, a source of study used by their students.

Communicative And Business Skills Aid In Varied Careers



Mrs. Correll suggests a better way to punctuate a sentence as the juniors review their daily lesson. Mrs. Correll received her B.S. in English and Social Studies from Butler University.

The first year Spanish boys respond to the meanings of the Spanish words pronounced by Mrs. English. She received her B.S. from Purdue in English and Spanish.

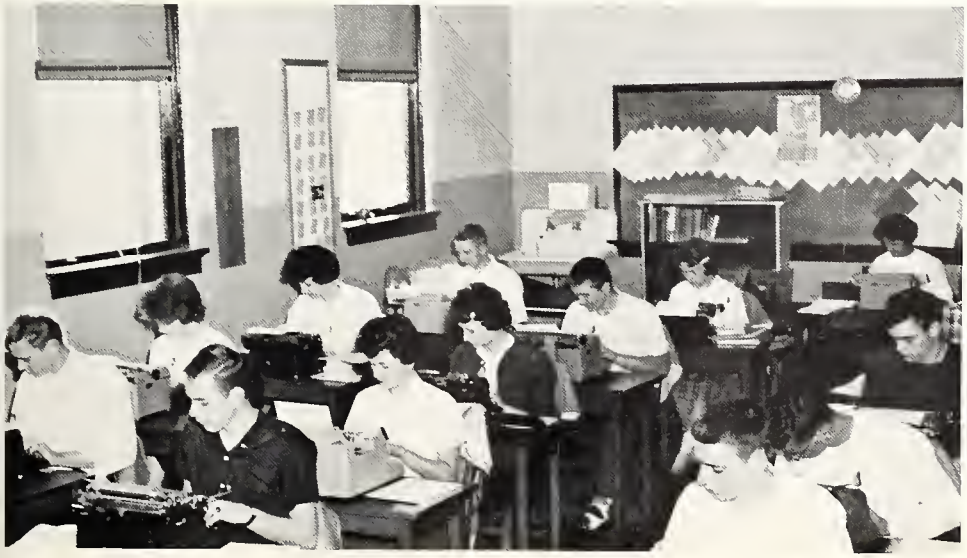
To share the lives and thoughts of others, to offer others an insight into our own - - this is the purpose of our intensive study of English literature and composition.

The program of the English Department is so arranged that students are taught the rules of grammar and their applications both in the written word and the spoken word. Literature is taught to develop an appreciation for finer forms of expressions.

A fifth year of English was offered this year. The students enrolled in Journalism the first semester were able to take speech the second semester, thus giving them a solid.

Typing, Business Training, and Bookkeeping are offered to those students who seriously consider entering the field of business. Ample opportunities are given to the students to put the ideas of those courses into practice each day.

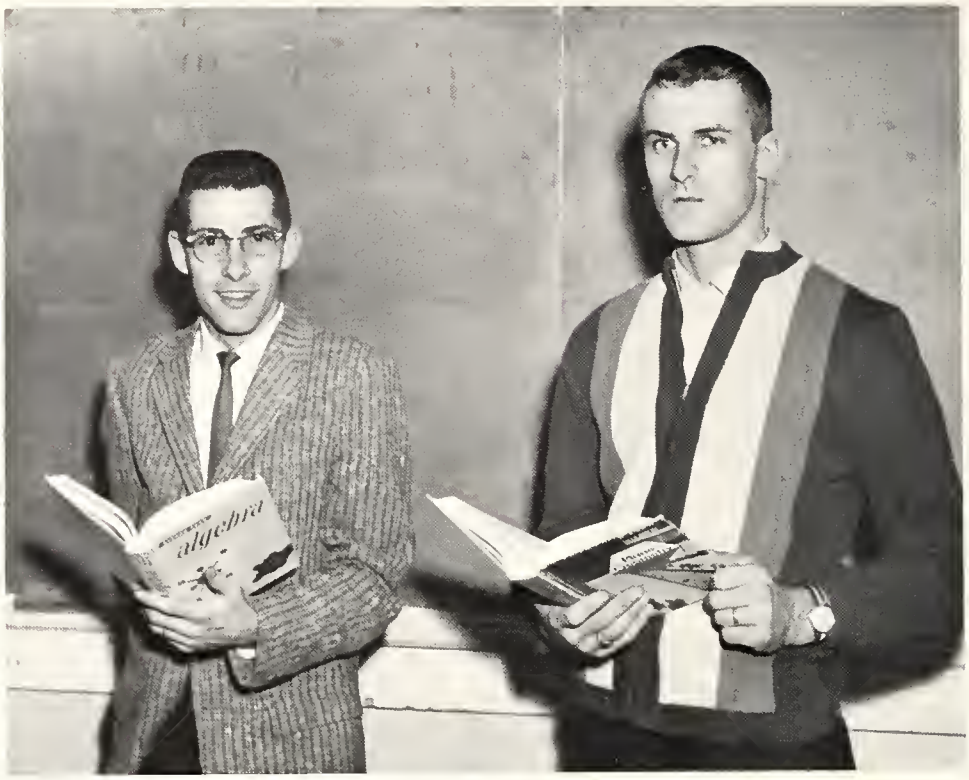
The freshmen listen as Mrs. Wallace gives tomorrow's assignment. Mrs. Wallace has a B.S. in English from Canterbury College and is currently working on her Master's Degree.



The typing students try for speed and accuracy as they type their class assignments. Mrs. Shoop graduated from Central Normal with a B.S. in Commerce.

In the field of mathematics, students are exposed to the mystery of the term "x" in their Algebra. When that obstacle has been surmounted, the students go on to find out what the Greeks did in the field of Geometry.

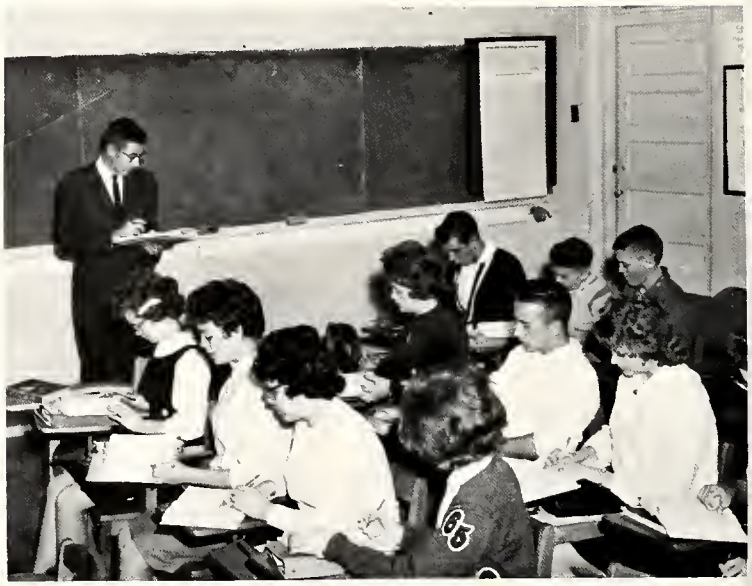
Advanced Algebra, Solid Geometry, and Trigonometry are offered for the more industrious.



Mathematical methods are discussed by Mr. North and Mr. Fleck.

Mathematics Stresses New Concern In Space Age

The students listen as Mr. North discusses their assignment for the following day. Mr. North graduated from Purdue with a B. S. in Mathematics and Social Studies.



Mr. Fleck assists Lana Fulkerson as she does an assigned problem at the board. Mr. Fleck attended Valparaiso University one year and graduated from Purdue with a B.S. in Physical Education, Math, Health, and Drivers Training.

Mr. Wheeler received his B. A. and M. A. from Ball State Teachers College.

Preparation for the future is found in the study of the past. Studying World History gives the students a better understanding of the problems facing them. With this as its guiding principle our History Department presents to its students a look at the world from the beginning of civilization to the present time.

Civics and United States History show the development of our country and the complexities of our government on the local, state, and national scale.

Social Studies Prepare Students For Future Citizenship

The World History students have prepared their lesson and are able to answer the question directed to them by Mr. Wheeler.

Home Economics—An Art And A Science

Mrs. Byers performs her skill at sewing behind the machine. She graduated from Purdue with a B.S. in Home Economics, Physical Education, and Related Sciences.

Home Economics training makes a girl a better wife and mother. The Home Ec. courses include the study of personality growth, family relationships, child growth, money management, home management, home hygiene, clothing, housing, and the care of the sick, in addition to cooking and housekeeping.

Teaching Of Better Days Through Better Ways In F.F.A.

Mr. Cook graduated from Purdue, receiving a B.S. in Agriculture.

Vocational agriculture is designed primarily for the boy who plans to farm after graduation. This course includes a wide variety of subject matter ranging from plowing to pest control. Farmers with a scientific turn of mind often have originated new breeds of plants or animals on their farms. A skilled tenant or farm manager may make a comfortable living.

Mr. Miller graduated from Indiana State College with a B.S. in Music.

Mrs. Buss has a B.A. in Music from Fresno State College, California.

Music For The Ear--Art For The Eye

There are music classes from grade school through high school. Wolcott has an active music department including Band, Glee Club, Boys' Chorus, and many smaller ensembles.

The students learn art principles while learning to express themselves.

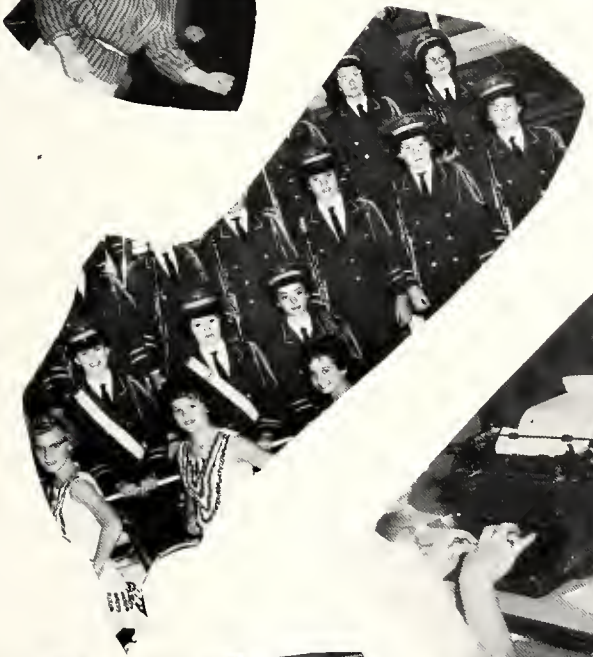
Mrs. Dyer attended Indiana University and graduated from Manchester College with a B.S. in Music and Art.

Sunshine Society decorates the gym in red and white for their annual formal dance.

Wolcott's band participates in Purdue's Band Day.

Organizations In Action

Drill team holds crowd's attention as they do their precision marching.



Activities

This year, the Student Council expanded the "Citizen of the Month" program, planned and directed the Homecoming game, and was in charge of the assembly programs, along with many lesser activities. Two members, Don Peters and Mike Klopfenstein attended Student Council Workshop at Bloomington last summer. We are a member of the National Association of Student Councils.

Student Council Plans Many School Activities

National Honor Society Promotes Leadership

Observing the need for recognizing the well-rounded, academically inclined student, the Wolcott Chapter of the National Honor Society was organized four years ago. Election to the Honor Society is based upon scholarship, leadership, character, and service. At the end of each semester, all those students scholastically eligible are rated by the members of the organization and the faculty on the other three qualities. Competition for membership in the Society creates enthusiasm for scholarship and encourages students to render service to the school and the community. Its reputation as a national society gives it high prestige and significance.

Sunshine Society Reaches New High In Membership

Ninety-six girls enrolled in the Sunshine Society this school year. The society has as its purpose the spreading of "sunshine" throughout both the school and the community. They send 100 dollars to the Riley Hospital in Indianapolis, and each year the senior girls tour the hospital. The society provided dinner for needy families at Christmas. Each year the society leaves a gift to the school. Money making projects are necessary to finance the organization. Sunshine has a Hobo Day in October. Their November project is a Chili Supper. Coat check at ball games not only helps to make money but provides a service as well. Sunshine does not neglect the social side of life. In December, the girls entertained their dads with a Daddy Date Night. The Sunshine Dance, the most exciting social event of the year, was held in the gym on February 16. The theme was "Here's My Heart." Sunshine tries hard not only to build better characters but to help others as well.

Students Kept Well-Informed By Howler

The HOWLER, a mimeographed, ten issue edict, is Wolcott High School's student publication. The Howler comes out once each month during the school year with a complimentary four page issue at the opening of school, and sells for a dime a copy. The journalism class, first semester, did much of the writing and editing of the paper.

Margaret Eberle, business manager; Mike Klopfenstein, sports editor; Sharon Cook, editor; and Marsha Hall, assistant editor plan the production and editing of the next issue. Mrs. Shoop, their advisor, watches their progress.

Trident Staff Works To Meet Deadlines

The TRIDENT, Wolcott's yearbook, is compiled by the Senior Class. The annual is one of the largest undertakings of the class because of the time and money involved. Long hours have been used to make layouts, write, type, and proofread. From the National School Yearbook Association, the 1962 book received a "B" rating.

Brenda Gerling, layout editor, completes one of the pages, as Mary Glotzbach, editor, plans another one. Don Peters, assistant editor, and Mr. Wheeler, sponsor, provide useful suggestions.

The officers, executive council, and science fair committee are busy working on plans for the Science Fair.

The purpose of the Science Club is to promote scientific ideas, cultivate leadership and character, and inform the members of available scholarships and the qualifications for being a scientist.

Any student in high school may become a prospective member if he maintains a C average in any science course. The eighth graders may become associate members.

The students assisted Mr. Christopher with the Elementary Science Workshop, February 22-23. The members oversaw the Science Fair. Students from other schools were invited to participate. All of the students in Physics, Chemistry, and General Science were required to exhibit projects.

Our favorite memories!--
The Junior-Senior Prom, the Sunshine Dance, Homecoming, FFA Dance, The Junior and the Senior plays -- these combine for some of our best high school activities.

Right: Mr. and Mrs. Sheets arrive for the annual Junior-Senior banquet.

The Grand March symbolizes the high point of any dance -- the grand parade of those new formals, suits, and flowers.

Giving her that corsage; pinning on that boutonniere -- those last preparations for that evening of favorite memories.

Favorites

The gala evening began with a junior-senior banquet served by the junior parents. The couples were escorted to the ball-room after dining by candlelight. They enjoyed an evening of dancing on the lawn of a "Southern Mansion", white and stately at the South end of the gym. The sound of music played by the "Salty Dogs" came from the band at the opposite end of the ballroom.

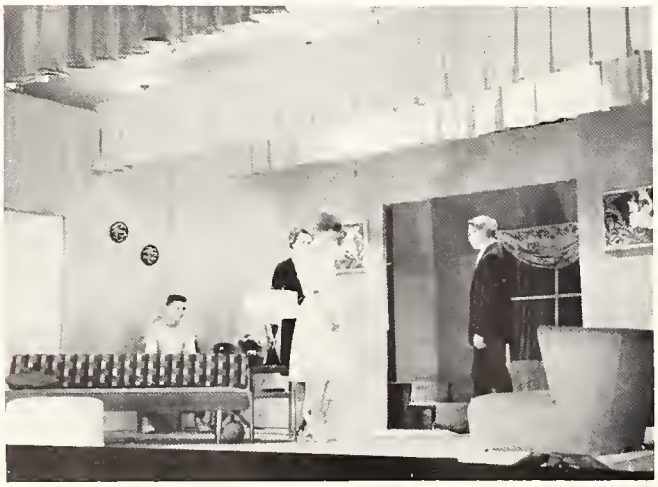
Junior Class Presents "The Magic Touch"

The 1962 Junior Play was a three act teen-age comedy. The action takes place in the living room of the Braddock home. Bobbette Braddock is a tomboy who enjoys being with her gang, the "Dirty Dozen". Her mother arranged to have a Fashion Show, a social highlight, in her home, although Bobbette does not cherish the idea of modeling an evening gown. Bobbette's rival is Frieda Fisher, who moves in on the "Dirty Dozen" Thinking her life to be over, Bobbette drops out of sight, temporarily. However, she returns and solves her problems, rescues the "Dirty Dozen", and wins top prize at the Fashion Show.



Mrs. Correll, Jim Burns, and Margaret Eberle are discussing the scenes and incidents of the play and prepare for the casting of the parts.

Seniors Prepare For The Stage Production Of "The Mouse That Roared"

"The Mouse That Roared" is a comedy in two acts. It is full of cock-eyed humor and needle sharp ironic jabs.

The construction of the stage settings is done by the senior boys. Good supports eliminate any possibility of ruined scenery.

Applying the makeup is a tedious job. Their appearance on stage depends upon the skill of the makeup artists.

1963 Homecoming Queen Wanda Young

Something Special--Homecoming Game And Dance

The queen and her court have the first dance after the game. The Claveles provide the music.

The girls await their entrance to the royal courtroom. Even they do not know which one will be the queen.

Queen Wanda and her escort, Jim Wood, enjoy a royal evening.

Wanda has such a memorable evening of joy and excitement. She will be able to share her moment of royalty when she returns to crown next year's Homecoming Queen.

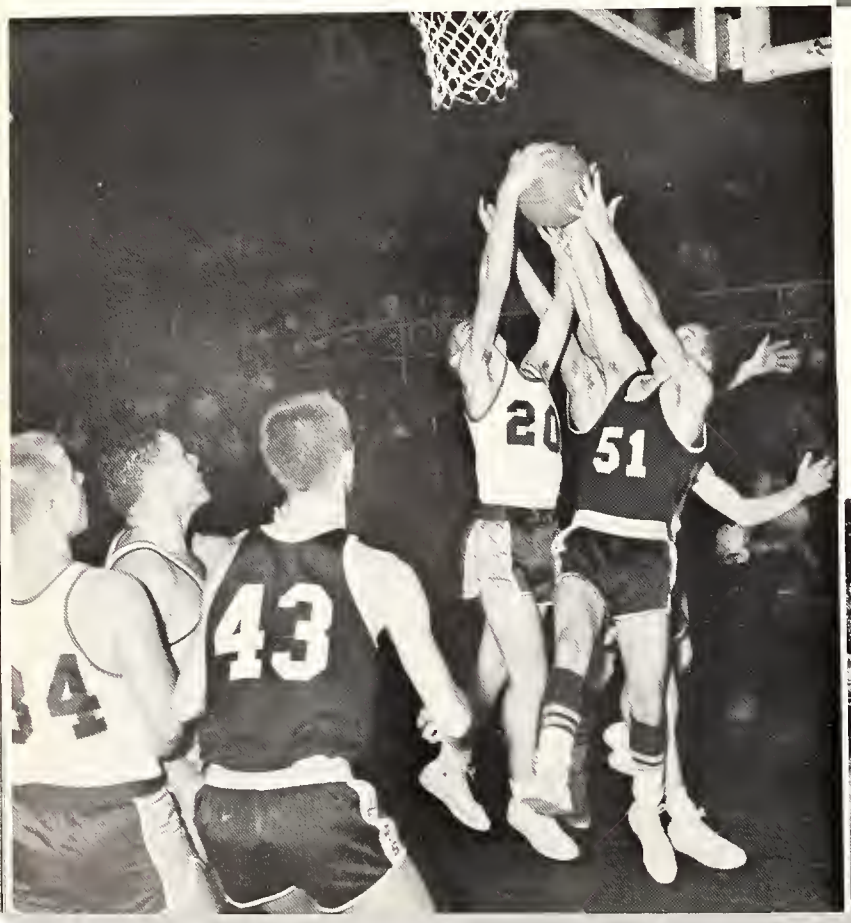
Bat! Run! Shoot!

Taking that all-important strike

Sports have taken on a different perspective since the school began to take part in the National Physical Fitness Program last year.

Track and Cross Country are important spring and fall sports.

Basketball remains as the sport dear to the hearts of all true Hoosiers.



But baseball, the national sport, still holds its own in action and suspense.

Our Modern Caseys-Baseball

The baseball team finished their season with a winning (5-4) record. The team was composed mostly of seniors, but a couple of underclassmen made the baseball prospects for the next two or three years sparkle. Mike Klopfenstein led the hitters with a .462 average. Mike Spear, a sophomore, and Craig LeBeau, a freshman, were next with .325 and .318 averages, respectively. Gary Anker led in the field with a .986 fielding average. Jim Burns' eleven stolen bases were tops in that department. Tom Guingrich was the pitching main-stay, pitching every game but one. His quick curve baffled hitters all year.

Although the basketball season was far from successful, Wildcats fans do have something to look forward to. The starting lineup contained three or four underclassmen most of the season. The two leading scorers, Roger Telfer and Ron Schneidt, are only Juniors. Ron was also the top rebounder. Randy Sims, a Junior, and Craig LeBeau, a Freshman, were in the starting lineup most of the season.

The highlight of the campaign came when Wolcott dropped Klondike in the Homecoming game, 78-52.

JUNIOR HIGH CHEERLEADERS--Barbara Musser and Susan DeMoss

FRESHMEN CHEERLEADERS--Susan Guingrich and Sue Rector

Cheerleaders Stimulate Spirit Of The Fans

VARSITY CHEERLEADERS--Jessica Sheets, Sharon Cook, Barbara Mathew, and Doris Mathew.

Cheerblock Cheers The Gold And Blue Toward Victory

Pep Club was re-organized this year, and each member received a set of club rules. Membership is open to all of the high school members.

The cheerleaders worked hard to perfect their movements and spent more time planning and arranging the cheerblock. The cheerleaders originated a number of new and enthusiastic yells.

The cheerblock was caught in a moment of excitement as our boys tied the opposing team.

Seventh Grade

How time flies! Just six years ago these seventh graders started school! Now they begin that long - yet short - time through junior high and high school.

Those jig-saw pieces are beginning to fit together.

Junior High School is often quite a change for the seventh and eighth grades--separate rooms for different subject, different teachers throughout the day, new subjects and perhaps more studying.

Eighth Grade

The seniors had fun painting their senior cords.

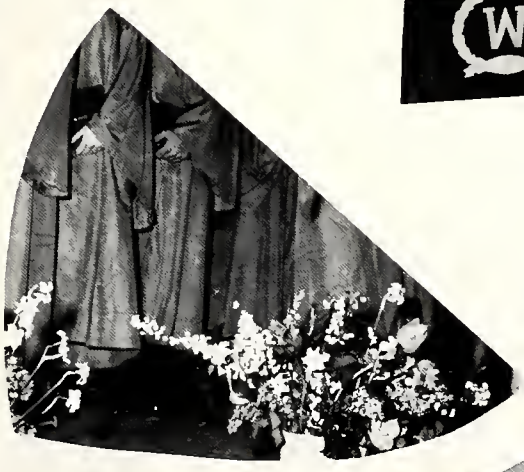
Can you identify these?

Seniors Look To The Future

The seniors will remember selling candy at the ball games, the tough finals, and the fun they had painting their cords. But at the same time, they look forward to what the future holds for them. Will it be college, a career, military service, or marriage?

The senior Journalism Class kept the student body informed with their news casts.

The seniors form a circle and do the "twist," a popular dance at Wolcott.



Seniors

Seven senior boys received honor jackets for their participation in school athletics. The seven boys and the sports they participated in are as follows: Jim Burns, basketball, baseball, track, and cross-country; Don Peters, basketball; Steve Rosentreter, basketball, track, and cross-country; Gary Anker, basketball and baseball; Mike Klopfenstein, basketball, track, and baseball; Bill Inman, basketball, track, cross-country, and baseball; and Tom Guingrich, basketball, track, and baseball.

Seniors Enjoy Their Last Year

The senior Sunshine girls decorated the gym for the last time. They couldn't resist posing in front of the backdrop, the main feature of the decorations.

Slumber parties are a part of the senior year. Eating, singing, playing games, and gab sessions are necessary for a successful season.

Wolcott Scenes

These views are so familiar to us; yet when we look again we may see things from a different angle than we have before.

Below: Looking north on Range Street (U.S. Highway No. 24).

Looking northeast - Paul Smart Implement Store in foreground, People's Co-Operative Feed Mill in center, Shrock Fertilizer Plant in right background.

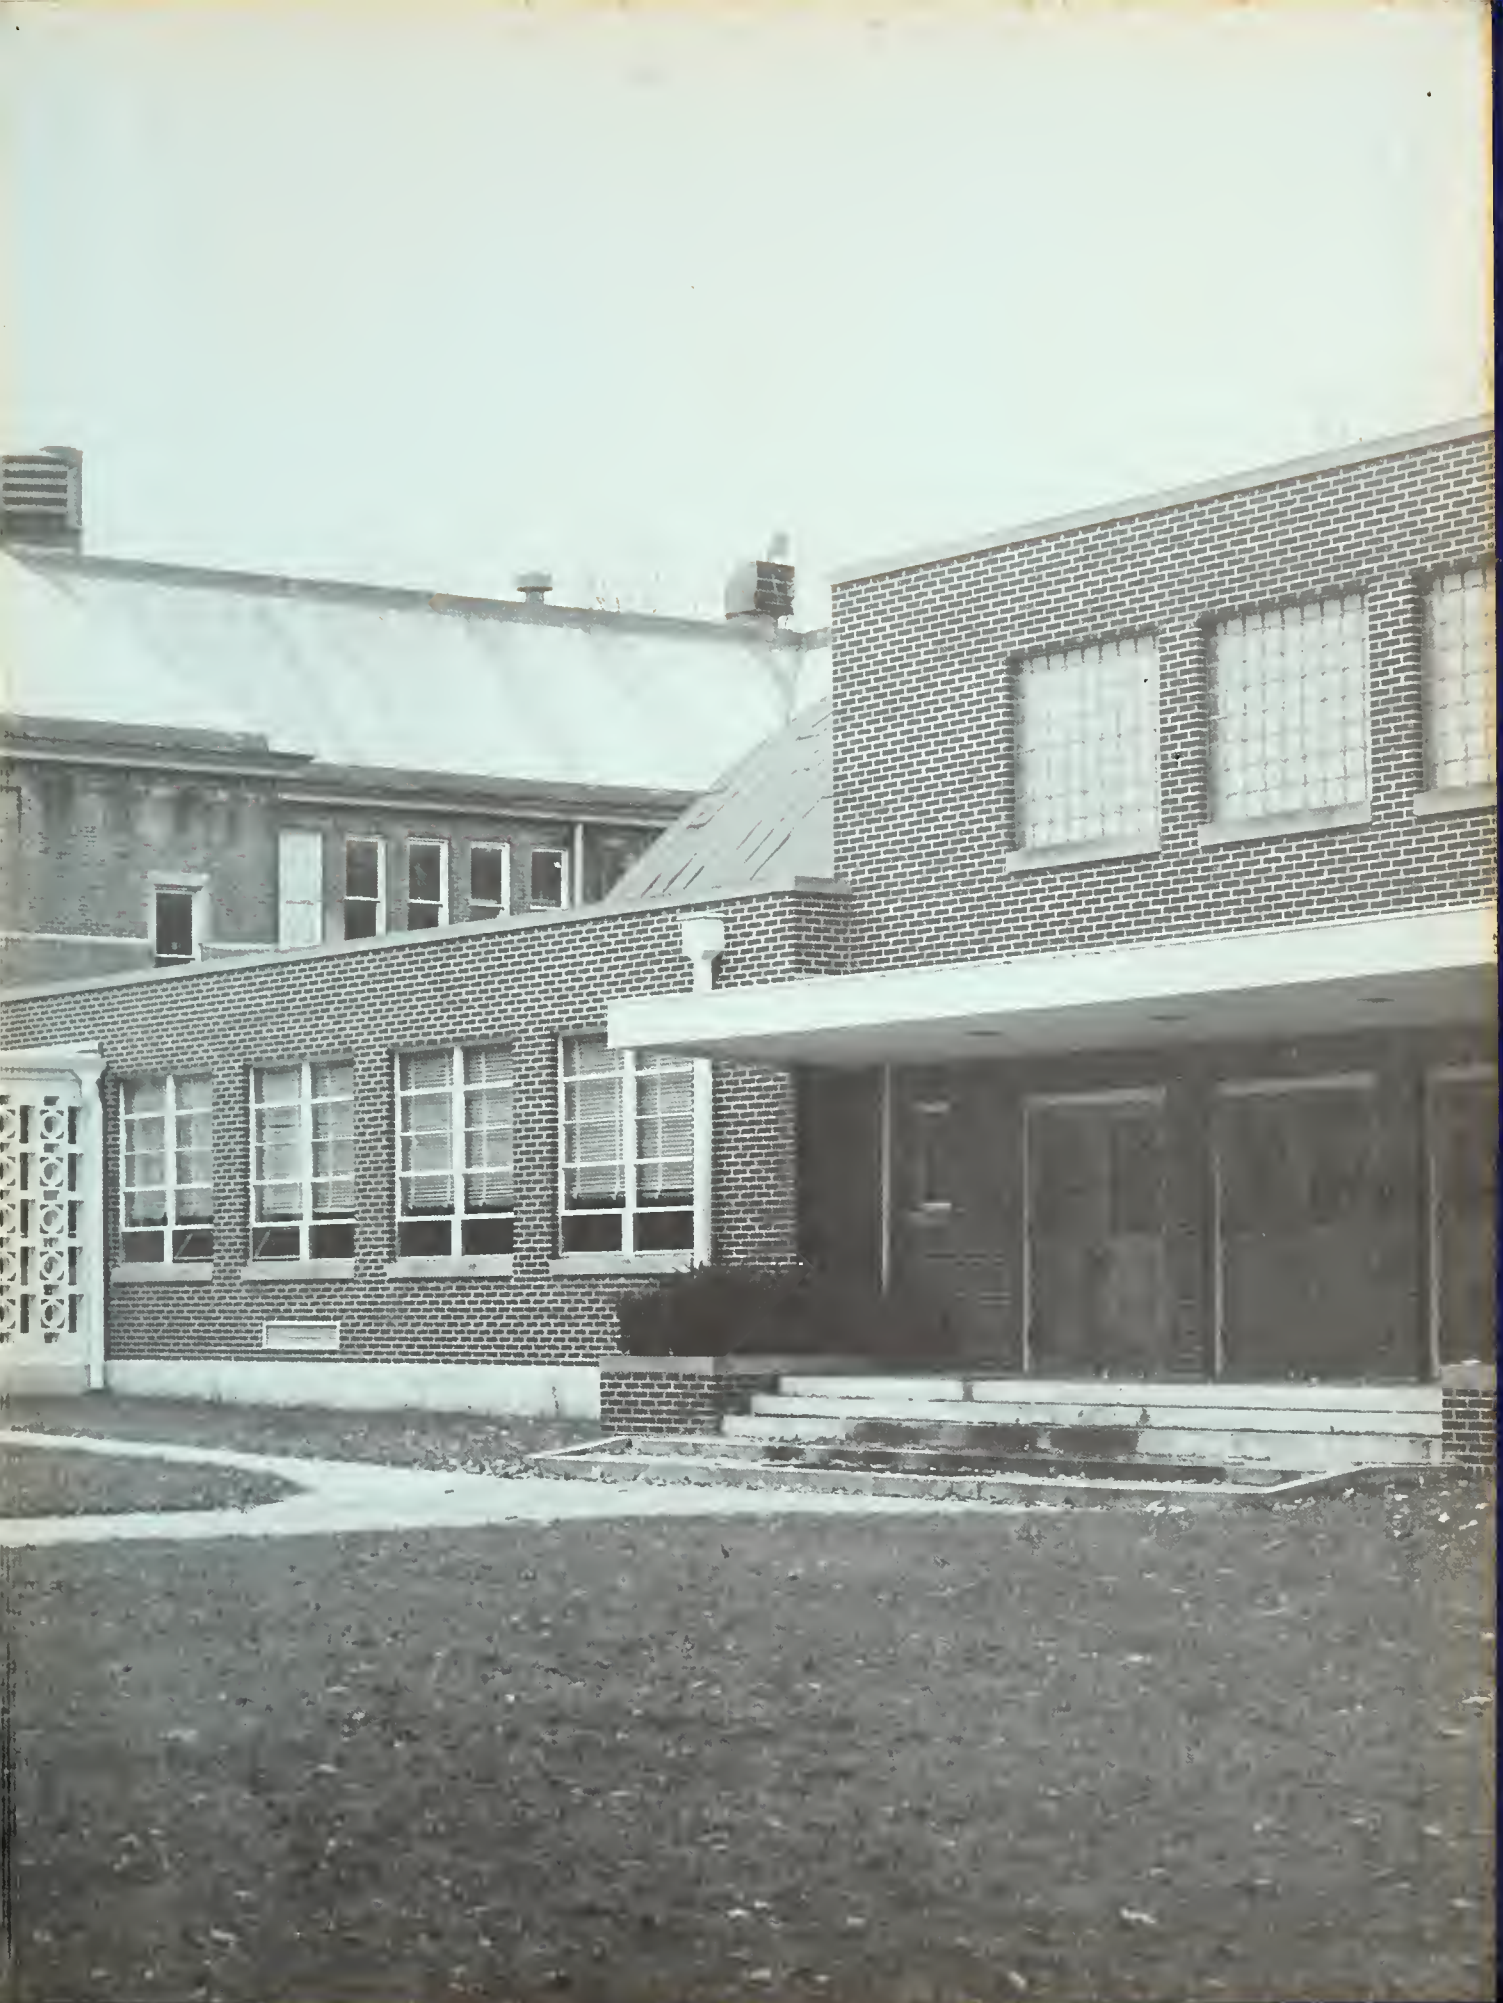
THE 1962 TRIDENT STAFF WISHES
TO THANK OUR ADVERTISERS AND ALL OTHERS
WHO HELPED MAKE OUR YEARBOOK A SUCCESS.
WE APPRECIATE YOUR GENEROUS PATRONAGE.

Our Winter Was Cold And Snowy--

But We Wish You A Warm Farewell!

MR. ADVERTISER:

Your Trident advertisement is a good advertisement!


1. 260 copies sold this year, going into nearly as many homes.
2. Attractive ad displays, art work, and photos.
3. Prices comparable to newspaper advertising.
4. A permanent advertisement that will last as long as the yearbook--seen many times--not just thrown away with yesterday's newspaper.
